Event Overview

Chaaya & Puffs was a TinkerHub community meetup organized for TinkerHub volunteers and NSS members. The event was designed to introduce participants to the TinkerHub community, encourage interaction among volunteers, and create a friendly environment for building new connections and friendships.

The event began with a short introduction to TinkerHub by Anjali, who introduced the participants to TinkerHub, its vision, community, and activities. The session helped participants understand the purpose of the TinkerHub community and the opportunities available to volunteers.

This was followed by an interactive session conducted by Jithu, the Head Coordinator. The session included engaging games and activities that encouraged participants to interact with one another. Jithu also shared interesting information about the human brain, sleep, and sleeping paralysis, making the session both informative and engaging.

Following this, Parthiv, a Core Team member, conducted an exciting game and challenge session. The participants were divided into groups, and the groups were given different challenges to complete. The groups also had opportunities to challenge one another, creating a fun and competitive atmosphere. The winning group was awarded gifts, and participants who gave correct answers during the session were also appreciated with gifts.

The event concluded with an opportunity for participants to relax, interact, and enjoy tea and puffs together. These informal conversations helped participants get to know each other better and strengthened the sense of community among the TinkerHub volunteers and NSS members.
